ACCIDENTS DARKEN DAY FOR DEMPSEY

Manager's Car Smashes Into Soldiers' Challenger Shows Fast Work.

TROUBLE FOR RICKARD

Bill in Legislature Gives Governor Authority to Stop the Fight.

TOLEDO, Ohio, May 26.—Misfortune trailed the Jack Dempsey camp all this day. To escape coming into collision with an automobile at one of the busiest street corners in the city, Jack Kearns, manager of the challenger, drove his machine into a motorcycle attached to the army recruiting service and seriously injured two soldiers. The motorcycle and sidecar were wrecked. Kearns rushed the injured soldiers to a hospital and then drove his car to a garage for repairs.

The bulldog presented to Dempsey by a Toledo admirer was responsible for a fracas at the camp. The dog, a winner of a score of fights, attacked a neighborhood pet and chewed the animal to death before Dempsey's trainers could stop it. Dempsey was in no way responsible for the fight, as the dog had been locked up, and he regretted the incident as keenly as he made a canvass of the houses in the neighborhood until he found the dog's owner.

Dempsey's second camp, Rickard, was in the fastest workout the challenger had since he began training for his battle with Dempsey. Rickard went through his paces in the morning as Trainer Jimmy De Forest believed the heat of the mid-afternoon would make strenuous boxing unprofitable. When the crowd arrived in camp, this afternoon Dempsey was obliged to do some shadow boxing, tugging at the weights and bag punching to satisfy the hundreds of onlookers who made the trip to camp with the expectation of seeing some ring work.

Tex Rickard, promoter of the contest, was a visitor. Rickard had heard nothing definite in regard to Willard's departure from Los Angeles, but assumed that the champion had started for Toledo as expected. Rickard O. Archer, Willard's business representative, is on the way here, having left the coast yesterday.

It was introduced to the Ohio Legislature giving to Gov. Cox the authority to override the local authorities at Toledo and revoke the permit they issued for the fight. Rickard was asked what the outcome of the proposition is, but he refused to make any extended comment.

"It's nothing more than I expected," Rickard said, "and I am not expressing myself as opposed to the contest. I do not care to make any statement in regard to the bill."

GODDARD TAKES TITLE

Steps Carbury in Teeth for British Honors.

LONDON, May 26.—Frank Goddard tonight beat Jack Carbury in the tenth round of a twenty round contest for the heavyweight championship of Great Britain and the Lord Londale belt.

The announcement that Goddard had won the title will surprise boxing fans in this country. Neither Goddard nor Carbury held the title. Some time ago Jack Beckett, who made the title, had been recognized as champion of England, and a London belt holder. Later reports had it that Beckett refused to fight Goddard for the right to meet George Carpentier. It appears that Goddard had been recognized as champion of England, and a London belt holder.

From all reports Goddard is the most formidable heavyweight in Europe. He was a sergeant of machine gunners and not so many months ago knocked out Dick Smith, a heavy light, and champion of England, in the seventh round. Goddard is not a boxer, but a rushing fighter.

The Brook Wins Classic Chase at Belmont Park

Carrying 167 Pounds, He Defeats Select Field of Jumpers in the International—Hollister Runs Off Outstrip Field in the Babylon Highweight Handicap.

By HENRY V. KING.

The Brook probably is the greatest cross-country horse which has raced in this country since the days of the immortal Good and Plenty. Last year he earned the championship and yesterday afternoon at Belmont Park he took a firm grip on this year's title. Carrying a staggering impost of 167 pounds, he defeated half a dozen of the best jumpers in training in the classic international steeplechase. He won the $1,200 purse by the small margin of three parts of a length and at the end was doing his mightiest, but the race was not run to his liking and for him to win under the conditions stamped him as a wonderfully courageous and reliable horse.

His forte is speed and he rarely blunders a fast, steady pace. Yesterday the pace was extremely slow and it was with a will that Jockey Kennedy was able to keep him in the rear during the early part of the contest. By being held back the brilliancy he usually displays while clearing the obstacles was missing. He was, however, well served and he himself benefited by "taking off."

The international is a handicap at two miles. It was inaugurated at Morris Park in 1893, and since its inception has attracted the best jumpers in the country. Because the field was wet and slippery on Saturday J. E. Griffith, his owner, did not name him in the over-night list. He considered his horse too valuable to lose by falling on treacherous ground and announced that the Brook would not start unless the track was dry and safe. By the time Mr. Griffith reached the course yesterday the sun and wind had worked wonders with the course and the champion was posted as added starter. Although many considered the Brook was too much for any horse to carry to victory through the field, the Brook was made the favorite and heavily backed at 5 to 1.

Despite the slow pace the contest was a thriller. None of the contestants came to grief and for a mile and a half they were bunched so closely together that it was impossible to tell who was leading. Powers holding him under a choking pull Tetan stepped along in front until half a mile from home.

At that point Powers gave his charge rein and Tetan increased his speed. But as he bounded forward the Brook came to make his run. The champion picked up his field one by one and at the last jump was on even terms with Tetan and Babcock, which also was making a determined bid for the lead. Over the last obstacle the trio went almost abreast.

All landed cleanly and then followed a thrilling race to the judges. At the sixteenth pole the three were noses apart. Then the Brook began to draw away from Tetan by a length. Babcock faltered in the last fifty yards and finished four lengths behind Tetan. The Brook is an imported gelding by Troutbeck and Hattie. Last summer at Saratoga he won the title. He was tried to buy him. He sought out Mr. Griffith and asked him to put a price on his horse.

"I'm a wealthy man," said Mr. Griffith, "but I like a good horse as well as any man and I believe I can afford to keep this one. Thanks for the offer, but I'll keep him." The winter Mr. Griffith was offered $15,000 for his champion, but even this big price he refused to part with.

VOUCHERS MAKE-FAST PROGRESS AT NETS

John Niemeyer Wins School of Commerce Golf Honors.

By EUGENE H. O'CONNELL.

Play in the Metropolitan junior championship tennis tournament began yesterday at the Kings County Tennis Club in Brooklyn with an entry list of sixty-three. The first round was completed in rapid fire fashion. Three of the youngsters, Robert Walsh of Fordham Prep., and J. Silverman of Commercial High School, reached the third round. Walsh was not extended to win either of his matches. In the first round he trounced Cyrus Gansel, 6-1, 6-1, and in the second round he defeated Samson Market of Morris High at 6-0.

Becker won his second round match from Irving R. Landau of Stuyvesant after they had moved out of the first round on defaults. The match was over in straight sets, 6-0, 6-0, and after only a few minutes' rest defeated Samson Market of Morris High at 6-0.

The withdrawal of Tetan Maid didn't mar the race. Sixteen cheap players went forth and put up a spirited battle. A. P. Soeller's Tarascon winning by half a mile. He finished half a length in front of Golden King.

Tarascon was at 20 to 1. He is a fast colt, but an unruly one and until yesterday refused to "break" to the barrier. Several times George Odom, his trainer, warned him. On those occasions he put a fashionable jockey such as Luke in the saddle. During the week Joe Healey pestered the trainer to let John Johnson have the mount next time. At first Odom was obstinate. When a big strong boy can get him away how can a youngster?

Healey finally persuaded Odom and the trainer. But Mr. Healey insisted and finally the trainer consented. Yesterday when the weights were announced Healey approached Odom and said he was sorry but that his boy couldn't ride because he couldn't make it. When a big strong boy can get him away how can a youngster? Healey finally persuaded Odom and the trainer. But Mr. Healey insisted and finally the trainer consented.

Enfilade, the heavy headed filly belonging to Morton L. Schwartz, ran one of her best races under the guidance of Johnny Loftus and defeated a select field of males and fillies over the five and a half furlong route. That she won was due in great part to Loftus's superb horsemanship. He got her away in front and kept her there throughout. During the last furlong the noted jockey was compelled to use his whip freely. House Maid challenged boldly, but Enfilade kept her going well enough to win by half a length.

While at the post on Enfilade Loftus was kicked in the right leg by Ground Swell. It was a painful kick, but Mrs. Cassidy gave him permission to dismount and walk around. This limbered up his horse and he remounted and won the race. During the remainder of the afternoon Loftus displayed a decided limp, but said he was only slightly bruised.

WOMEN GOLFERS AT MONTCLAIR TO-DAY

One Day Tournament Is Scheduled—Play at Hackensack To-morrow.

By INIX BROWN.

The Montclair Golf Club course today will be the gathering place of the leading women exponents of golf in this state. The affair is a one day tournament, and favored by good weather should bring together strong field. This event was scheduled for Thursday, but a postponement was forced by unfavorable weather conditions.

Inasmuch as play for the Griscom cup starts at Apawamis on Tuesday, today's matches, together with a similar test tomorrow at Hackensack, are likely to go a long way toward deciding the makeup of the local team to compete against Boston and Philadelphia players.

On the strength of its showing in the international matches by teams representing Long Island Sound, Westchester, North Jersey and South Jersey, the Long Island Sound team appears likely to contribute liberally to the local contenders in the tri-city matches. This combination played a winner in its contest with each of the other representatives. Only one of those, South Jersey, succeeded in holding the one match.

Miss Marion Hollister, former women's national champion, won matches in both her engagements. Mrs. J. E. Davis of the local team, who is a member of her team in each engagement. Other consistent winners on the team were Mrs. G. K. Morrow, Great Neck, Mrs. G. K. Morrow, Great Neck, Mrs. G. K. Morrow, Great Neck.

Other Strong Players. However, each of the three other sectional teams boasts several players who have shown consistently good golf. Mrs. A. Herzog of Fairview has proven a winner in each of the three tournaments for Westchester. Mrs. K. K. Morrow, Plainfield, playing with South Jersey, has never failed to count points. Mrs. S. P. Nash, Baltusrol, is another who has helped materially to the fortunes of South Jersey. Mrs. C. Ubelacker, Hackensack, secretary of the Metropolitan association, has lost but one match.

New York players won the Griscom cup matches in 1916, when they were last played, defeating Philadelphia 12 to 8, and Boston 10 to 6. They expect to repeat this year at Apawamis.

Changes at Salisbury. Quite a few changes are being made in the Salisbury Golf Club links near Garden City, which will bring the popular course close to championship standards. With an approximate length of 6,400 yards, the new links will be a ways, it affords a narrow but excellent fairway, and the putting greens are in excellent shape.

The first, second and seventh greens are being trapped and planned to add similar hazards to several others in the near future. The third green will be a trap, and the fourth green will be a trap. The fifth is being altered to a trap. The sixth is being altered to a trap. The seventh is being altered to a trap.

A new season recently flashed across the Far West golfing firmament in the person of eighteen-year-old Clark Spiers of Seattle. In a recent tournament at the Harbor Country Club, Spiers turned in a card of 151 for thirty-six holes, taking first place over Walter Fowles by two strokes.
